

NAILED IT!

BIG HEARTED SEMBCORP TRIO SHARE EXPERTISE AT CHILDREN'S DEVELOPMENT CENTRE

Job's a good 'un – Cleveland Unit staff admire the work of the Sembcorp 'handymen' right to left Carl Shuttleworth, Dave Morris and Ruth Barnard. Also pictured (second left) is Andrew Swainston who volunteers his accountancy skills for the benefit of the unit.

How long does it take top quality engineers to build a children's play house?

Not long you might think...except when the instructions are vague to say the least!

That was the dilemma faced by two of Sembcorp's finest – Carl Shuttleworth and Dave Morris – as they sought to do a good deed at Middlesbrough's Cleveland Unit as part of Sembcorp's Gives Back Day. They were given additional support in the form of versatile in-house lawyer Ruth Barnard.

Undaunted by the task, the determined trio hammered away until they eventually nailed the job on time and on spec three hours later.

Baffling – Carl and Dave needed all their engineering skills to work out how to construct the play house from the poor instructions supplied

Dave continues to try to make sense of the plans and (below) gets down to some serious drilling

Taking shape – the play house starting to come together

Now, their fantastic efforts – which included hacking down overgrown foliage and shrubbery in the outdoor play area - have drawn praise from the team at the unit at the James Cook University Hospital, which provides support on referral for families with children aged 0-5 with special educational needs and/or disabilities.

Said Carl, “The instructions weren’t the best but we got there in the end with a bit of good old engineering know how.”

Jennie Kitchen, Manager and Head of Service at the Cleveland Unit said: “The play house is absolutely superb and will be enjoyed by children for years to come. We’re immensely grateful to Sembcorp for allowing their employees the time during the working week to share their skills and talents for the benefit of the families in the wider South Tees area.”

Inside the Cleveland Unit and below the process of tidying up the gardens begins

